

Why You Should Be Teaching Deployment In Your Curriculum!

Len Bass

Professional Education
Consortium

Bram Adams

MCIS, Polytechnique
Montreal

Chris Parnin

North Carolina State
University

Lorin Hochstein

Netflix

Topics

- What is continuous delivery and what problem does it solve?
- What skills do the students need and what is the industry need for such skills?
- What do we teach in our courses and what supporting material do we use?
- How advanced is the material and what level of students should be taught this material?

Topics

- What is continuous delivery and what problem does it solve?
- What skills do the students need and what is the industry need for such skills?
- What do we teach in our courses and what supporting material do we use?
- How advanced is the material and what level of students should be taught this material?

Topics

- What is continuous delivery and what problem does it solve?
- What skills do the students need and what is the industry need for such skills?
- What do we teach in our courses and what supporting material do we use?
- How advanced is the material and what level of students should be taught this material?

Topics

- What is continuous delivery and what problem does it solve?
- What skills do the students need and what is the industry need for such skills?
- What do we teach in our courses and what supporting material do we use?
- How advanced is the material and what level of students should be taught this material?

More topics

- How much theory and how much practice when covering the material?
- What about cloud credits or access?